

The Prairie Light Review

Volume 43 | Number 1

Article 15

Fall 12-1-2020

Wind So Free

Mardelle Fortier
College of DuPage

Follow this and additional works at: <https://dc.cod.edu/plr>

Recommended Citation

Fortier, Mardelle (2020) "Wind So Free," The Prairie Light Review. Vol. 43 : No. 1 , Article 15.
Available at: <https://dc.cod.edu/plr/vol43/iss1/15>

This Selection is brought to you for free and open access by the College Publications at DigitalCommons@COD. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Prairie Light Review by an authorized editor of DigitalCommons@COD. For more information, please contact orenick@cod.edu.

Wind So Free

Let me be the wind, flying everywhere, flying nowhere, riding the blue hounds
while humans lie asleep.

I cross the English channel, waltz down Paris streets. Ah, the amber of bright bridges and the river slow and deep. I float down to Marseilles and flirt with tall, dark ships.

Spin to Casablanca, scatter all the dice. Pass by every castle in every country...twice.

Never need to slow down, as I possess no feet. Never fall, never swoon, nor stop to breathe;
Liberty forever mine,
I can set my own beat.

Mardelle Fortier